

DUTCH FLAT ENQUIRER.

SATURDAY MORNING, DEC. 23, 1893.

Now, by St. Paul, the work goes forward on the Dutch Flat and the Dutch Flat Enquirer, the flag of the Union-Tribune of the Free, and the hand that dares to pull the down.

THE MITZ SOCIETY gave one of their pleasant and agreeable entertainments, at Golden Eagle Hall, on Tuesday evening of this week, which proved a marked success; being well attended by the "beauty and fashion" of either gender. After the business of the society had been attended to, which consists principally in a lady passing round a wool hat, and saying to each individual addressed, in tones unmistakably authoritative, "come out," and they do it. The appointment of the lady in question "chief," was a master stroke of strategy by the society. Nothing makes a fellow's purse-strings fly loose sooner than being solicited by one of the fair sex. The more "gay and festive" portion of the assembly called into requisition the necessary music, and tripped the "light fantastic" till a late hour. Everything passed off harmoniously, and to the entire satisfaction of all participants. We were not there in person, but had a "proxy," who informs us that even many of those in the "fear and yellow" last, we mean the old folks, were tempted to join in the "many dance." The Mitz is one of the permanent institutions of our town, and it managed in the future as in the past, cannot fail prospering. The ladies and officers of the society seemingly try to vie with each other in sociability, and every attention is bestowed upon their patrons and guests. Innocent amusement—plenty of it—cheap at that, is the specialty of the organization. Another meeting is announced, to be held at the residence of Mr. Philip Farr, Sacramento street, on Tuesday eve next. All are cordially invited to attend.

THE Union Sunday School voted on Sunday last to plant their Christmas tree this evening, in the theatre. The public are cordially invited to attend. Seats will be reserved for children of other schools. Persons making presents are requested to hand them to the committee before dark this evening. We hear that quite a number of presents have been donated, and children whose parents are not able to expend sums, small as they usually are, will be remembered this evening. The exercises will be opened, as customary, with a hymn.

THIEVES.—During the past week several robberies have been committed in our town. Messrs. Wausburg & Co. had about a dozen pair of the pantaloons stolen from their store by a Chinaman on Saturday, while they were conversing in the back room. Stolen probably by the same scoundrel who disputed the possession of a bundle of goods with one of these gentlemen last week. The same night Mr. La-kamp lost three pairs and a half of boots from his store the same night. On Tuesday, a thief, probably the same one, stole three sacks of rice from the store of Mr. Runkle. All of these larcenies point to John Chinaman as the depredator, and should be a warning to our merchants to keep a sharp lookout.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER.—We learn that on Monday evening last, at Colfax, a desperado known as Jack Williams, in a noisy and disgraceful manner commenced abusing everybody in the place, and compelled all the saloons in the town to close their doors. While using most abusive and obscene language in regard to the people of the town, Mr. Lewis Kopp, formerly of this place, attempted to remonstrate with him and told him he should not include all in his denunciations, when Williams without the least warning drew a pistol and shot him, the ball taking effect in his breast and ranging round to the back, where it was extracted. Williams, after his murderous attempt, left, and has not been seen since. We are glad to know that the wound is not a dangerous one, but are sorry the would-be murderer was allowed to escape.

DROWNED.—Mr. John Heinzelman, says the Yreka Union of the 9th instant, was drowned in Scott River, near Scott Bar, about midnight on the 24 instant. He was a native of Germany, and at one time a resident of Yreka. Deceased was about 30 years of age, and leaves to mourn his loss a brother, in this place; two sisters in New York, and an uncle in this Yreka. At last accounts his body had not been found. The brother of Mr. Heinzelman can see a full account of his brother's death by calling at this office.

GOODS AT COST.—Messrs. Mason & White, at Gold Run, are now offering their splendid assortment of Dry Goods at San Francisco cost, for the purpose of closing out this department of their business, in order to devote their entire attention to the Grocery and Provision trade. All those who are in need of ladies' furnishings goods would do well to give these gentlemen a call at an early day.

FIGHTS.—Fighting appears to be the order of the day among the sports of our town. Nightly come unlucky devils get "one in the snout," or "one in the eye," and hardly a night passes but what three or four are sent to "grass." Knock-downs and fisticuffs are the prevalent recreations indulged in by our "fancy" in the small hours of the night. We hope those who are "on it" will confine themselves to the "pugilistic," as otherwise the Sheriff, or some other man, might hurt somebody.

THE meeting of the citizens of this place which was held at the Union Church, on Monday evening last, was organized by calling the Rev. J. A. Johnson to the Chair, and appointing Mr. H. Davis, Secretary. A committee of seven was appointed on ways and means, and after determining to meet again on Monday, the 1st of January, adjourned. We hope those who were mainly interested in the erection of this edifice will combine their efforts with those of the committee and aid in the liquidation of the debt incurred. This is an important matter and should receive the serious consideration of each individual citizen of our town.

SENATOR.

The duty of electing a United States Senator by the Legislature, to fill the vacancy which will occur on the 4th of March next, by the expiration of the term of Mr. McDougall, was performed by that body on Saturday last by the election of Hon. Cornelius Cole. That the action of the Legislature in this instance, meets our wishes we cannot say. Our favorite for the position was Hon. A. A. Sargent, of Nevada; a man eminently fitted by education, probity, and natural ability for a position so exalted, and requiring the determined will and indefatigable industry and perseverance possessed by this gentleman. It is to be expected that measures highly important to the interests of the people on this coast generally, and to miners particularly, will be brought up for the consideration of Congress, and we know of no one to whom we would rather trust these interests than to A. A. Sargent. But the gentlemen composing the Legislature thought differently, and we bow in obedience to the mandate. Of Mr. Cole, the Senator elect, we know but little. We copy from the Sacramento Union the following brief notice:

Cornelius Cole is a native of Lodi, Seneca county, New York, having been born September 17, 1823. During the latter portion of the term of preparation for the bar, he studied in the office of William H. Seward, the present Secretary of State. He commenced practice in Seneca county in 1847, and was admitted to the Supreme Court in 1848. He emigrated to California in 1849, crossing the plains, and reaching Sacramento July 20th. In common with many others of our pioneers he followed mining for a while, working early in the year 1850 on the Middle Fork of the American river. Subsequently he practiced law in San Francisco, and removed to 1853 to Sacramento. In August, 1858, he took the editorial charge of the Daily Times, a radical Republican newspaper, published in this city, and was connected with it until some time after the close of the Fremont campaign. A considerable sacrifice of means as well as time. He was elected District Attorney of this county in 1860, and held the office for two years. In 1863 he removed to Santa Cruz, and was elected to Congress in 1868, taking his seat in December of that year.

FIXING IT UP.—The Eastern Democratic papers appear sanguine that a full, unconditional pardon will be granted by the President to the late rebels in arms against the Government. Some of them are advocating the policy of the United States rushing furiously into war with some nation—not care which one—in order to conciliate, or divert the ill-feeling now existing between the people of the two sections. A correspondent of a Copperhead paper, writing from Washington to New York, says, that in the event of a foreign war "it is no secret what the course of President Johnson will be. It is now considered very probable that General Robert E. Lee will be offered a command second in importance only to that of Lieutenant-General Grant. He will probably lead the army in its operations in Mexico, while to Sherman will be given the command of the army in Canada—that is, if we have two foreign wars at one time." He must think that the President has nothing to do but plan out high and honorable positions for those who six months since were ready to cut his throat. The same writer says that a war is not only possible but that the President and Cabinet are actually planning for one, in order to "conciliate our Southern brethren," and says: "It would put a sudden stop to all the complications of the political situation, would compel Congress to admit the Southern members; an entire amnesty could be granted to all unpardoned rebels in the South, and the necessity being one, could and would give us a bond of Union such as we have not had for the past thirty years. A foreign war would consolidate us into one nation, for the Federal and Confederate troops, the 'Yanks' and the 'Johnnies' would fight side by side, and once more have a common military history of which both might be justly proud." We always supposed that the President was a kind, christian gentleman; one who had, if his duty was to consult his own feelings, much rather forgive than punish, but we never supposed him fool enough to rush headlong into war in order to soothe the ruffled feelings of any section.

MADE GLAD.—It is always a source of gratification to us to be able to chronicle instances of disinterested kindness, especially when the act performed conduces to the pleasure and happiness of worthy recipients. In the present instance we are more than gratified, are happy, and feel good-natured to all our fellow-beings, have even a pleasant feeling for Arnold, who has uselessly compelled us to incur a heavy expense in a lawsuit. However, now, at this time, we are friends with all. We feel good, and hope you all do. And this pleasantness has been brought about by the liberality and kindness of Messrs. Mason & White, of Gold Run, who forwarded to us per Harry West, a box containing a quantity of cans, bottles, and bundles filled with fruits, preserves, pickles, jams, jellies, liquors and sweetmeats of every description and kind, for which they have our most sincere thanks. Just at the right time, too, when we were wondering what we should do in order to procure the accompaniments for the fine turkey wash. Madden promised us (he hasn't sent it yet), for a Christmas Dinner. When we get that turkey we'll be all right, and have the material for a splendid banquet. P. S.—Since the above was placed in type, Washington, don't say Wash, now, has forwarded the biggest turkey in the county.

BALL.—This evening the votaries of Terpsichore are invited to be present at a Ball to be given at Gold Run at the Gold Run Hotel. Great sport is anticipated from the known character of the landlord to make all at home who patronize his pleasant gatherings. A Christmas Tree has been erected by the ladies in the hall, where presents will be dispensed in the early portion of the evening.

ELECTION.—At a meeting of the Mitz Society, held on Tuesday evening, 21st instant, Mrs. W. C. Richmond was elected Treasurer, and Mrs. Charles Seffens, Secretary. We learn that it is the intention of the Society to hold weekly meetings regularly, due notice of which will appear in the ENQUIRER.

A CHRISTMAS TREE will be erected at the Methodist Church on Monday evening, when the children will doubtless see Santa Claus in all his glory. Those who have been obedient will do well to go early, as the patron of juvenile excellence is certain to remember all his devotees.

THANKS TO HON. E. L. BRADLEY, Senator from this county, and Hon. John Yule, Speaker of the Assembly, for important public documents during the past week.

LETTER FROM THE CAPITAL.

SACRAMENTO, DEC. 21, 1893.

EDITOR ENQUIRER: The long agony is over and peace and quietude reigns throughout entire length and breadth of the State. Senatorial election, which it was predicted would keep the political cauldron boiling, seething and bubbling up for three months at least, and was to prove a golden nest-egg for the providers of provant, and the dispensers of "hard goods" at the Capital, was settled at the close of the second week, to the intense disgust of the aforementioned class, as well as the great defeated. The whole thing was done up with such "neatness and dispatch," that there was neither time or opportunity to "ring in a cold deck," as the cards were fairly shuffled and dealt, and "the game was made." There probably never has been a similar contest in California, where so little money was used by the successful candidate, and so little chicanery and "shenanigan" resorted to by the professional politicians and party wire-pullers, up to the last day of the races. There were three Senatorial days in the field, Low, Cole, and Sargent; the Governor, finding that he could not run on the first, drew out at the eleventh hour and paid the forfeit, leaving a clear field to the two latter contestants. The adherents of Low going over in a body to Cole, secured his nomination on the first ballot, of course; which was confirmed in Convention the day following the caucus, and the newly elected Senator wet his commission, duly "signed, sealed and delivered," on the following Monday, went on his way rejoicing to San Francisco, where he has since been serenaded and lauded to by that class who are ever ready to fall down and worship men in high position, and

"Crook the pregnant hinges of the knee, That might follow lowing."

It is claimed for Cornelius Cole, that he has been elected without making any pledges, and that when he takes his seat in the United States Senate in March next, he will do so entirely untrammelled, and independent of the dictation of either party or individuals. Without being a brilliant man, the new Senator is a hard worker, and one who will labor zealously for the interests of his constituents and the State he represents. His record during the term he served in Congress, is as fair as that of any member who ever represented the Golden State, at the Federal Capital.

Although the two Houses refused to adjourn on Saturday over to Tuesday, a large number of Senators and Assemblymen took the boat for San Francisco, leaving a bare quorum for the transaction of business on the following Monday. As the boat reached the wharf at the metropolis, about a dozen of Nevada, under the impression that the Senator elect was on board, commenced firing a salute in his honor, and when they learned their mistake, gave vent to their chagrin in curses both loud and deep. The defeated candidate for the Senatorial toga, being a passenger, a Colorado suggested that the burning of powder was for his benefit, on the principle that cannon were usually fired over the spot where parties had been drowned, in order to raise the dead. That the result of the contest leaves Sargent politically out in the cold, for a long time, his most sanguine friends do not pretend to deny.

The most important matter before the Legislature during the present week, has been the introduction by Senator Bealon, of Nevada, of a series of resolutions requesting our Representatives and instructing our Senators in Congress to urge an amendment to the Act donated lands to the Central Pacific Railroad Company, approved July 2, 1864, in such manner as to vest rights of miners, settlers and owners in the premises. The second resolution urges upon our Senators and Representatives in Congress the necessity of preventing the issuance of patents for said lands to the accompanying memorial setting forth the facts in the case can be properly presented before Congress. The resolutions passed the Senate with instructions that the Governor transmit their substance by telegraph to Washington, and by letter to the same effect, accepted the invitation extended them by President Stanford, to take a ride over the road as far as completed, for which purpose they adjourned over until Friday, at 9 o'clock this morning, a joyous crowd of miners, settlers, and Second and Third Houses—the latter being by far the most numerous—took the cars and went on a "regular train" to Colfax—when in the language of an "Old Militia General," they were treated to "a coil collision" in the depot, on which occasion turkey, ham, corn, under sandwiches, etc., were devoured, and washed down with copious libations of champagne, after which came the usual amount of sentiments and speechifying—in the course of which President Stanford, Speaker Yule, Senator Pearce and Jake Chase—the "Old Irrepressible,"—from San Francisco, and decidedly the most athletic speaker in either House, Bill Hunt, the leader of the Sacramento Short Hairs, not excepted, held forth. The party returned about half-past four in the evening, mutually pleased with the day's excursion.

As the wheels of legislation will not get to running smoothly until after the holidays, both Houses very wisely passed a resolution yesterday to adjourn on Saturday next until the third of January—the meeting of the Legislature will be in the meantime; with the exception of Senator Hawes, of San Francisco and San Mateo, who two years since refused to receive, or at least refunded to the State, his pay for such time as the Legislature was not in session. My friend and pitcher, "Old Sanctity," very wisely refrained from "being rode on a rail," but like a sensible man stayed at home, taking his regular lager at Grubler's, and dining on the keg in the evening. He was lucky to have the virtue.

A RUN OF BAD LUCK.—A man, whose name is not given, attempted to commit suicide in San Antonio, on Wednesday last. He had been at Reese River, where he was wrangled out of a large amount of money, and got back to San Antonio with forty dollars in his pocket, which was stolen from him by a room-mate. This last straw "broke the camel's back" of his fortitude, and he took two ounces of laudanum. This, fortunately, was too much to lie on his stomach. He ejected it, and was saved.

NEW YEAR'S BALL.—By noticing our advertising columns it will be seen that Mr. Hackett will open his large and commodious house with a grand ball on Monday, January 1st, next. Persons wishing to see a good time, by having lots of fun, cannot do better than pay Gold Run a visit on the first proximo.

HORRIBLE DEATH.—On Friday night of last week a man named Ellis died in this place, and we hear that he died whilst in a fit of delirium tremens.

ADVERTISING.

A CARD.

L. Everhart, who resides about five miles from Dutch Flat, at Secret Town, had a running account with the undersigned since September 3, 1893, during which time he has been accommodated with such articles of merchandise as he needed, paying when he was able. On being repeatedly requested to settle the balance of his indebtedness, for which he waited over two years, on last week came in and demanded a receipt in full, which, upon receiving, he paid in legal tender notes. This, for articles bought on a credit with no understanding that they should be paid for in gold and silver. Persons who have faith in Bank Notes, I decline to do business with. J. B. BURCKHALTER.
